01 — Personal Story (Launch Post)

I was completely lost at my first American Mahjong game.

So I built MAHJ — the app I wish someone had handed me before I sat down at that table.

14 lessons that take you from "what are all these tiles?" to actually playing with confidence. Plus a printable cheat sheet you can bring to game night (this alone is worth it).

No ads. No accounts. No data tracking. Just learn at your own pace.

Available on web and the App Store — link in bio 🀄

02 — Lessons Overview

14 lessons. Start at zero. Build to confidence.

Each module unlocks as you complete the last one — so you're never overwhelmed, and you never skip ahead before you're ready.

By the end, you'll know:

- Every tile in the set
- How the Charleston works
- When to call, when to pass
- How to read the table
- How scoring works

03 — Tiles

Can you name all 152 tiles in an American Mahjong set?

3 suits (Bam, Crack, Dot) x 9 values x 4 copies = 108 4 Winds x 4 copies = 16 3 Dragons x 4 copies = 12 4 Flowers + 4 Seasons = 8 8 Jokers = 8

Total: 152

Module 1 teaches you to recognize every single one by sight. Most people get it in about 20 minutes.

04 — Charleston

The Charleston is what makes American Mahjong different from every other version.

Before play begins, you pass tiles you don't want and (hopefully) get tiles you need. It goes: Right, Across, Left — then back: Left, Across, Right — then an optional courtesy pass.

It sounds complicated. It's not. MAHJ walks you through every pass, step by step, with practice drills.

05 — Cheat Sheet

This is the one thing you actually want at your first game night.

A printable cheat sheet with:

- The Charleston pass order
- When you can (and can't) call
- Joker rules
- Scoring and who pays what
- Common mistakes to avoid
- Table etiquette basics

Print it. Fold it. Bring it. Nobody will judge you — in fact, experienced players will respect that you came prepared.

06 — Scoring Calculator

"Who pays what?" — the question that stops every game.

MAHJ's scoring calculator handles it all:

- Discard win vs. self-draw
- Jokerless bonus (double everything!)
- Singles & Pairs exceptions
- Exact dollar amounts for each player

No more arguing. No more guessing. Just enter the hand value and win type.

07 — Daily Puzzle (Engagement Post)

Pop quiz: 3 copies of the 5 Bam are already visible in the discard pool. Is the 4th safe to discard?

(Answer: Yes — 100% safe. Nobody can Pung or Kong it. The 3-copies rule is your best friend.)

MAHJ has a new puzzle like this every single day. Open the app, test yourself, stay sharp between game nights.

08 — Defense Tip (Engagement Post)

Offense gets you points. Defense keeps you from paying everyone else.

Here's one tip that changed how I play: if nobody is discarding a particular suit, that's the "hot suit." Someone at the table is collecting it. Stop throwing those tiles.

Module 7 teaches you how to read the table, count visible tiles, and know when to fold.

09 — No Ads, No Tracking

No ads. No accounts. No data tracking.

MAHJ saves your progress on your device. We don't collect your email. We don't sell your data. We don't even know you exist — and we like it that way.

Just open the app and start learning. That's it.

10 — Module 0: Welcome

Module 0: Welcome

What IS American Mahjong? How is it different from the version your grandma played? Why are there 152 tiles?

This 5-minute intro covers the basics before you touch a single tile. If you've ever been curious about the game but didn't know where to start — this is where.

11 — Module 1: Tile Trainer

Module 1: Tile Trainer

Bams, Cracks, Dots, Winds, Dragons, Flowers, Jokers.

By the end of this module, you'll recognize all 152 tiles on sight. Interactive drills help you practice until it's automatic.

Pro tip: focus on the three suits first. The honors and flowers will click after that.

12 — Module 2: Reading the Card

Module 2: Reading the Card

The NMJL card is the heart of American Mahjong — but it looks like hieroglyphics the first time you see it.

This module teaches you to decode the notation so you can actually read the hands. (You'll need to buy the real card separately — we don't reproduce it.)

13 — Module 3: Setup and Dealing

Module 3: Setup and Dealing

Washing. Building the wall. The dice roll. The deal.

There's a rhythm to setting up an American Mahjong game, and once you know it, you'll never feel lost at the table again.

This module walks you through every step with animations so you can see exactly what happens.

14 — Module 4: The Charleston

Module 4: The Charleston

Right. Across. Left. Left. Across. Right. Courtesy.

That's the Charleston — the 6-pass tile trade that's unique to American Mahjong. No other version of mahjong has this, and it's one of the most fun parts of the game.

MAHJ teaches it with an interactive simulator so you can practice before your first real game.

15 — Module 5: Jokers and Calling

Module 5: Jokers and Calling

Two rules that trip up every beginner:

1. Jokers can substitute in groups of 3 or more — but NEVER in a pair
2. You can call a discard for Pung or Kong — but NEVER for a pair (unless it's Mahjong)

This module makes both click with practice scenarios.

16 — Module 6: Hand Strategy

Module 6: Hand Strategy

After the deal, you're staring at 13 tiles thinking "now what?"

This module teaches you how to:

- Identify 2-3 candidate hands
- Narrow down after the Charleston
- Know when to commit and when to stay flexible
- Pick the right discard when it's not obvious

Strategy is what separates "I know the rules" from "I can actually play."

17 — Module 7: Defense

Module 7: Defense

The most underrated skill in American Mahjong.

When an opponent has 3 exposures, they're one tile from Mahjong. If you're the one who throws that tile, YOU pay double.

This module teaches you to count visible tiles, spot the hot suit, read exposures, and know when to stop building your hand and start playing safe.

18 — Module 8: Table Etiquette

Module 8: Table Etiquette

The unwritten rules that nobody tells you before your first game:

- Always announce your discard clearly
- Pause before racking so others can call
- Say "wait" if you need a moment to think
- If you make a mistake, stop and say so immediately

Module 8 covers everything so you don't accidentally annoy the table.

19 — Module 9: Scoring

Module 9: Scoring

Quick quiz: You win on someone's discard with a 50-cent hand. Who pays what?

Answer: The discarder pays double ($1.00). The other two players pay face value (50 cents each). You collect $2.00 total.

Now add the jokerless bonus and self-draw rules and it gets interesting. Module 9 breaks it all down.

20 — Module 10: Common Mistakes

Module 10: Common Mistakes

Mistakes happen. What matters is how you handle them.

- Accidentally exposed a tile? Your hand might be dead.
- Called the wrong tile? Stop immediately and speak up.
- Lost count of your tiles? It happens to everyone.

This module teaches you what to do when things go wrong — because they will, and that's okay.

21 — Module 11: Glossary

Module 11: Glossary

"Pung." "Kong." "Mahjong." "Charleston." "Exposure." "Dead hand." "Hot suit."

American Mahjong has its own language. MAHJ's glossary has every term you'll hear at the table, searchable by category.

22 — Module 12: Your First Full Game

Module 12: Your First Full Game

This is the one that puts it all together.

A complete walkthrough of an American Mahjong game from start to finish — washing, dealing, the Charleston, drawing, discarding, calling, defense, and scoring.

By the end, you'll know exactly what to expect when you sit down at a real table.

23 — Module 13: Practice Hands

Module 13: Practice Hands

Real scenarios. Real decisions.

"You have 7 Bams, 3 Dots, 2 Winds, and a Joker. What hands should you consider? What do you pass in the Charleston? What's your discard priority?"

This module tests everything you've learned with hands you might actually see at the table.

24 — Did You Know (Engagement Post)

Did you know American Mahjong has 8 Jokers?

Most other versions of mahjong have zero. The Jokers are what make the American version unique — they're wild cards that can substitute in any group of 3 or more identical tiles.

But here's the catch: you can NEVER use a Joker in a pair. And you can never call a discarded Joker. They're powerful but they have rules.

Learn all the Joker rules in Module 5 — link in bio

25 — Pro Tip (Engagement Post)

Pro tip: After the deal, keep 2-3 candidate hands in mind — not just one.

Too many beginners lock into a single hand immediately and then panic when they don't get the tiles they need.

Stay flexible. Look at your strongest suit. Count your pairs and triples. Check for patterns (all even? lots of Winds?). THEN start narrowing down after the Charleston.

Module 6 (Hand Strategy) teaches this in depth — link in bio

26 — Quiz (Engagement Post)

Quick quiz: Can you use a Joker to complete a pair?

Drop your answer in the comments before reading further.

Answer: NO. Jokers only work in groups of 3 or more. Pairs must always be two real, matching tiles. No exceptions.

This is the #1 rule beginners get wrong. Learn all the Joker rules in Module 5 — link in bio

Posting Tips

- Don't post module posts back-to-back. Alternate with tips, quizzes, and engagement posts (07, 08, 24, 25, 26).
- Vary your CTA. Mix "link in bio," "start with Module 0 — link in bio," and "welcome2mahj.com" so it doesn't feel robotic.
- Engagement posts (quizzes, tips) should go out on high-traffic days — Tuesday through Thursday tend to perform best.
- Respond to every comment. The algorithm rewards engagement.
- Reuse the quiz format. Post 26 and 07 can become a recurring series — "Mahj Monday Quiz" or similar.
